

Sierra has over 30 year of dance experience. She grew up dancing at Vicki Jo Dance Studio from the age of three and started competing at age six. She has competed and won many regional and national competitions. Sierra conducted her dance studies in New York City immersed in technique workshops, Broadway auditions, and dance theory. After completing her studies, she started performing in musicals at La Comedia Theatre. She has played in productions such as West Side Story, Thoroughly Modern Millie, White Christmas and High School Musical. In 2010, Sierra started teaching dance back where it all started. Inspired by her previous theater experiences, she started choreographing production numbers, which have won national awards to include platinum, first place overalls, choreography awards, entertainment awards Power Ranking Awards and National Championship awards. She is also a proud member of Dance Masters of America and a dedicated, passionate studio owner. She is proud to be the third owner of Vicki Jo Dance Studio that has been in business for 62 years.
